

Who We Are

Established 138 years ago as Singapore's first telecommunications provider, Singtel has grown beyond our traditional telco roots to become a global communications technology company with a presence in Asia, Australia, Africa and the US. Together with our regional associates, we reach 638 million mobile subscribers and derive about 70% of our earnings from outside of Singapore. Our consumer and business customers enjoy a wide range of essential digital services, delivered to them seamlessly and securely.
